

Remedy for Leaving a Candidate Off of the Ballot

Krieger v. Peoria

(David G. Campbell, D. Ariz. 2:14-cv-1762)

On Thursday, August 7, 2014, a candidate for city council in Peoria, Arizona, filed a federal complaint in the District of Arizona challenging election officials' remedy for the omission of the plaintiff's name on early ballots sent out beginning on July 31 for an August 26 election.<sup>1</sup> The candidate wanted a special election instead of officials' sending out corrected ballots.<sup>2</sup> On August 8, the plaintiff filed a motion to file an overlong motion for a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction,<sup>3</sup> and Judge David G. Campbell accepted the overlong motion on August 11.<sup>4</sup>

On August 12, Judge Campbell set a telephone conference for the following afternoon.<sup>5</sup> He held a hearing on August 22.<sup>6</sup>

On the day of the hearing, Judge Campbell issued a temporary restraining order, agreeing with the candidate that ballots cast omitting the candidate could not be adequately remedied by providing voters with corrected ballots for their optional use; a special election with correct ballots was required.<sup>7</sup>

On August 28, the parties notified Judge Campbell that disputes remained about how to handle a runoff election if one of the candidates did not get a majority of votes on general election day, when the race for the plaintiff's seat would be held.<sup>8</sup> On September 3, Judge Campbell set the matter for hearing on the following day.<sup>9</sup> On September 5, Judge Campbell ordered that a runoff election would be held, if necessary, on March 10, 2015.<sup>10</sup>

On September 15, the parties stipulated that campaign finance limits would apply to the special election on general election day for the plaintiff's seat as if the August 26 election had not happened.<sup>11</sup>

Although a runoff election was in fact required, the plaintiff's third place showing did not qualify him for it.<sup>12</sup>
